

1965 Studebaker Daytona V8 Sports Sedan Registry

Daytona Convertible and Hardtop were discontinued for 1965. In their place was the new Daytona Sports Sedan model. For production details, see Turning Wheels Aug 1988 & Oct 2002. There were 1,627 total built 1965 Daytona Sports Sedans. 1,626 V8s: 115 were standard, 141 were OD, and 1,370 were automatics. 12 of those were built in Canada then exported. There were no CKD units. 1 additional special order automatic 6-cylinder Sports Sedan was assembled on the last day of production.

For 1965, Studebaker reached an agreement with McKinnon Industries of Canada, which also made engines for GM, Chevy, and Pontiac. Studebaker used the Chevy 6, but also used the heavier V8 283 from GM trucks with a steel crankshaft, instead of the cast shaft used in the 283 for Chevy and Pontiac branded cars. I assumed the responsibility for this registry in March of 2025, taking over for Terry Farmer. Please send any updates to mg_harris@hotmail.com
